

CURRICULUM

Antonio José Miralles Pérez

ajmiralles@ucam.edu

He has a BA and a PhD in English Philology. He teaches courses in History, Culture and Literature of English-speaking countries. He has taught ESP courses in several degree programs (Psychology, Criminology, etc.). His academic research has focused on the historical novel, modern depictions of the medieval world, and autobiographical narrative. He is the deputy head of the Foreign Language Department, and he coordinates the Master's dissertation module of the Master's Degree in Bilingual Teaching as well as two modules (Final year project and Work placement) of the Bachelor's Degree in Modern Languages.